Soleimani made death of innocent people his 'sick passion', says Trump

In his first comments, Trump said that Soleimani had been carrying out acts of terror to destabilise the Middle East for the last 20 years

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Washington, January 4

US PRESIDENT DONALD Trump has said Iranian General Qasem Soleimani had made the death of innocent people his 'sick passion' and contributed to terrorist plots as far away as New Delhi and London, a day after ordering the drone attack that killed the powerful Revolutionary Guards commander in Iraq.

Soleimani, 62, the head of Iran's elite al-Quds force and architect of its regional security apparatus, was killed when a drone fired missiles into a convoy that was leaving the Baghdad International Airport early on Friday.

In his first comments since the killing of the Iranian mili-

Tens of thousands of people marched in Baghdad on Saturday to mourn the deaths of Iran's military chief Qasem Soleimani and Iraqi militia leader Abu Mahdi al-Muhandis, who were killed in a US air strike, raising the spectre of conflict in the Middle East

tary leader, Trump said that Soleimani had been perpetrating acts of terror to destabilise the Middle East for the last 20 years. "The recent attacks on US targets in Iraq, including rocket strikes that killed an American and injured four American servicemen very badly, as well as a violent assault on our embassy in Baghdad, were carried out at the direction of Soleimani," Trump told reporters at his personal Mar-a-Lago resort in Florida. "Soleimani made the death of innocent people his sick passion, contributing to terrorist plots as far away as New Delhi and London. Today we remember and honour the victims of Soleimani's many atrocities and we take comfort in knowing that his reign of terror is over," he said. Trump said what the United States did yesterday should have been done a long ago.

"A lot of lives would have been saved. Just recently Soleimani led the brutal repression of protesters in Iran, where more than 1,000 innocent civilians were tortured and killed in their own government," he said.

Amidst escalation of tension with Iran, Trump claimed Soleimani's killing will not lead to war. "We took action last night to stop a war. We did not take action to start a war. I have deep respect for the Iranian people. They are a remarkable people with an incredible heritage and unlimited potential. We do not seek regime change. However, the Iranian regime's aggression in the region, including the use of proxy fighters to destabilise its neighbours, must end now. The future belongs to the people of Iran, those who seek peaceful co-existence and cooperation, not the terrorist warlords who plunder their nation to finance bloodshed abroad," he said.

Trump said at his direction, the US military successfully executed a flawless precision strike that killed the "number one terrorist" anywhere in the world.

"Soleimani was plotting imminent and sinister attacks on American diplomats and military personnel, but we caught him in the act and terminated him. Under my leadership, America's policy is unambiguous to terrorists who harm or intend to harm any American. We will find you. We will eliminate you," Trump said.

Iran vows revenge

IRAN WILL punish Americans wherever they are within reach of the Islamic Republic in retaliation for the killing of military commander Qasem Soleimani, Tasnim news agency quoted a senior Revolutionary Guards commander as saying.

General Gholamali Abuhamzeh, the commander of the Guards in the southern province of Kerman, raised the prospect of possible attacks on ships in the Gulf. Iran reserved the right to take revenge against the US for the death of Soleimani, he said in comments.

China eases access for foreign lenders

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Shanghai, January 4

China has started lifting major restrictions on foreign investment in its financial sector, a move long demanded by the United States as the world's two biggest economies are locked in a fierce trade battle.

From the start of 2020, foreign banks can now set up wholly-owned branches in China without a local partner holding the majority stake, the banking regulatory authority, CBIRC, announced on Friday.

In the past, foreign banks were required to have a local Chinese partner and not allowed to hold more than 49% of their respective joint ventures.

The announcement could be seen as a gesture of goodwill by China towards the US as Washington says a preliminary trade agreement between the two sides looks set to be signed this month. The world's top two economies have been waging a merciless trade war since March 2018, resulting in mutual tariffs being slapped on hundreds of billions of dollars' worth of annual trade.

Beijing has long promised to further open up its economy to foreign investment, but it was slow to do so in the financial sector. In October, China unveiled a timetable for lifting a number of the restrictions.

And in December, the Swiss bank UBS was authorised to take a majority stake in its activities in the country.

BMW beats Mercedes in US sales for first time since 2015

BLOOMBERG
January 4

BMW AG OUTSOLD Daimler AG's Mercedes-Benz in the US for the first time in four years after blowing out its rival in the final month of 2019.

BMW sold 35,746 cars and sport utility vehicles in December and finished the year ahead by more than 8,700 units. The Munich-based manufacturer staged a revival this year by filling out its SUV lineup with the massive new X7.

Mercedes was meanwhile hamstrung by supplier bottlenecks that cramped production at its lone US car-assembly plant in Tuscaloosa, Alabama. The automaker sold 316,094 vehicles in 2019, just 1.35 more than the previous year.

Still, the story of the year may not be over. The US Securities and Exchange Commission is investigating BMW's sales-reporting practices, the
